

Cambridge – Friday 25th May 2007 – University Arms – 12:00 – 2:00pm

Leading the Discussion:

Tim Richards, Partner and Head of Property and Construction at Hewitsons

Tim Richards was with a City firm before joining Hewitsons in 1996 to lead its construction team, later becoming head of the firm-wide property section. He has considerable expertise in the construction and funding aspects of major projects, property transactions and infrastructure schemes in both the public and private sector with particular experience in PFI/PPP work. Tim has led the firm's successful tenders for a number of major clients including the University of Cambridge, English Partnerships and Travis Perkins plc.

Phil Davies, Head of Governance at the East of England Development Agency (EEDA)

EEDA is a non-departmental public body established to promote the economic development of the East of England. The agency has a budget of around £140 million per annum. Phil is a member of the Chartered Institute of Public Finance and joined EEDA in June 2005, having previously worked in the local government sector. Phil is currently responsible for a portfolio of activities at EEDA, which includes the overall management of procurement, performance management, ICT and knowledge management, internal audit and the overall governance arrangements within the agency.
